(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Apr. 12.—Mayor Donn M. Roberts of Terre Haute was sentenced today in federal court to serve six years in Leavenworth prison. To this was added a fine of $2,000. Roberts was the chief defendant in the Terre Haute election corruption conspiracy trial conducted by the government.

Other sentences pronounced by Judge Anderson were: Sheriff Dennis Shea, five years and $1,000.

Eli Redman, circuit judge, five years and $1,000.

ONLY AS A LAWYER

Indianapolis, April 12.—A. O. Stanley, retiring congressman from Kentucky and attorney for Mayor Donn M. Roberts and most of the 27 Terre Haute politicians who fought the government's case, explained to the United Press today how he felt after it was all over:

"I would not go through this again for a king's ransom," said Stanley. "It has been a terrible siege. I've just felt my way through darkness. I understood the case was to have been prepared before I arrived. I have sat day after day through this trial just feeling my way. The only defendant I knew before I arrived was Roberts. He came to Washington for me. I was just expected to help out and make the closing address. I had to assume charge of it all. The people know I have always been against election corruption. I am here only in the capacity of a lawyer."

CONDEMNNS SALOONS.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 12.—Federal Judge Anderson took a strong stand against the saloon when he sentenced the 112 Terre Haute politicians today.

"The saloon must go. The time has come to rise up and smash the saloon as we have it now. Of all the election corruption brought out in this case, the saloons were the center and I confess this doesn't make me feel kindly towards these defendants."

was the first of the eighty-nine men who pleaded guilty to be sentenced, received a sentence of one year and one day in Leavenworth and a fine of one dollar.

Judge Anderson began sentencing the men after he had overruled motions for a new trial made by attorneys for Mayor Roberts and others on the grounds that the government had not proved its charge in the count referring to using the mails to defraud.

The sentence in each case was different for each count. The sentence each man will serve is the concurrent sentence given above. Each man was sentenced on each count that in case parts of the indictment are successfully attacked the other sentences will stand.

When Judge Anderson asked before pronouncing sentence whether any of the convicted men or confessed defendants had anything to say, Mayor Roberts did not move, but two of the convicted men, Geo. Ehrenhardt and Lester Hull, attempted to shield Roberts by declaring that while innocent of the crimes charged, they had not been instructed along any lines prior to the election. The government had charged that Roberts held a school for election inspectors.

Judge Anderson announced that at the request of District Attorney Dailey he would not put into effect at once the sentences of John Nugent, John Hines, John Bruns and Frankie Hess, but would hold them as witnesses in the trial of Roy Shattuck and five others May 17. These men are charged with conspiring to commit election frauds to elect Shattuck to congress from the fifth Indiana district on the Republican ticket.

When Maurice Walsh arose and said that his conscience was clear, Judge Anderson asked how it happened that the $1,500 contribution of Crawford Fairbanks was not on the books. He added that Walsh's statement was "as false as can be." The plans today were for the train for Leavenworth bearing the sentenced men to leave at noon tomorrow. The route was unknown. The court announced the costs of the trial as $12,000 to be paid by the defendants. The costs have not yet been apportioned. The court announced that bonds would be ten thousand dollars or each year of sentences and that the bonds would have to include a guarantee to pay costs of the trial and fines.

The court announced the cost of the dynamite conspiracy trial here was $32,000; that these costs had ever been paid and he instructed District Attorney Dailey to proceed to collect them.

Other confessed conspirators and convicted men received sentences of varied degrees, the majority of them in the county jail. Bert Hill was fined one dollar and sentenced to serve six months in the Marion county jail.

In order that Frank Green, one of the confessed conspirators, might come here from Terre Haute to be

CITY'S FUTURE IS CONSIDERED

Suggestions For Social Center Where Young People May Congregate at Union Meeting.

AN AFTERMATH OF ELECTION

Ministers Explain What Officers Have Right to Expect From People and Vice Versa.

Suggestions or the establishment of a social center, what citizens have a right to expect of their officers and what officers have a right to expect of the citizens were some of the things discussed at the union meeting of the churches at the First Presbyterian church last evening.

A. L. Gary, who presided and spoke first, said the meeting was not so much of a ratification as it was to consider what should be done to make the victory complete. He said the election was one time when Rushville pulled together. Mr. Gary, who was chairman of the committee during the last campaign, said that men, women and children all worked to bring about the result. He said the number of volunteers was surprising.

He declared the organization which is planned is to extend into every part of the city. To make Rushville "as dry as a covered bridge," he continued, it must be kept "dry." He recalled the people elect men to enforce the law and then sit down and let them do the work.

"We must let them know we are behind them," he continued. "The only way to settle the question is to make liquor selling a losing game. As long as a man can sell it and make money after paying his fines, he will sell it. We are all citizens of Rushville and have an equal interest here. We should not wait 2 years and then have a 'dry' revival. We should keep on the alert and then if possible we can take a vacation in six months."

The Rev. S. G. Huntington, of the First Baptist church, spoke next concerning "blind tigers." He said it took no argument on his part to prove that the "blind tiger" in Rushville is a live and present issue. He pointed to the circular dated and circulated the day before the recent election by the chairman of the Rushville liberal committee in which it was said: "It is estimated that there are more than one hundred 'blind tigers' in Rushville, some operating today and some tomorrow, but all of them ready to operate at any time, the moment the vigilance of the authorities is relaxed."

"Of course, the arger part of this was campaign dope," continued the speaker. "It came from the liberal committee and naturally that committee was most liberal in handing out its dope. There are approximately 7,000 people in Rushville occupying 1,400 homes. One hundred 'blind tigers' would average one to every seventy people or one to every fourteen homes. This is not only preposterous but ridiculously absurd. But suppose there were 100 'blind tigers' in Rushville?? The 'drys' are not operating them. There were 668 'wet' votes cast in the last election which would mean, according to the Liberal Committee's estimate, that one out of every six and a half 'wets' is a 'blind tiger' operator and a law breaker. Surely this is a pretty hard jolt on the Liberal Committee and its 'wet' satellites. Of course the 'drys' make no such assertions, hence it is up to the 'wets' themselves to deliver themselves from the predicament

FROST SET FOR STAGE TONIGHT

Lower Temperature is Predicted by Weather Man, But it is Doubtful if it Will be Damaging

FARMERS ARE NOT WORRYING

Too Thankful For Rains Which Made Wheat Crop and Pastures to Think About Other Troubles.

Frost is promised for tonight by the weather man. A fall in temperature is also forecast by the weather man. Whether the extreme weather will have any effect on fruit vegetables which are just getting a good start is problematical, although it was stated by many that it was doubtful whether a frost would do any damage at this time unless it was very heavy.

It was more like the middle of March today than the middle of April. The sky was overcast with heavy, foreboding-looking clouds and the wind blew a gale. But the forecaster says that the temperature will rise tomorrow, so there is no fear of any great damage being done by the threatened cold.

Farmers are so thankful for the heavy rains the last two days of last week that they are not worrying much about a frost that so far is nothing more than a prediction. The rains were so heavy all over the county that it was impossible to plow Saturday and in some cases today fields were too wet to plow. The fields, however, that remain unbroken, are very rare.

The rain is exactly what the farmers have been wanting for weeks. They say it means practically the making of the wheat crop, oats crop and the spring pastures. They will not worry if the showers continue for two of three days. Most of them have their plowing well advanced and are not going to be at a disadvantage if they do not get to turn over any more dirt for a few days.

Unless the weather should stay ugly, the changes are corn planting will come earlier in Rush county this year than usual. There are many farmers who could plant corn this week were the weather only warm enough. They have the ground ready. It does not often happen that much corn is planted in Rush county in April, but the present indications are that there will be many acres planted this year before the month ends.

YOUNG WOMAN SUCCUMBS

Mrs. Faud Harcourt Dies at Home Near Milroy Today.

Mrs. Faud Harcourt, age about twenty-five years, died at her home one and one-half miles west of Milroy this morning at three-thirty o'clock of peritonitis. She has been in a precarious condition since the birth of her infant daughter last Thursday. The funeral will be held at the home Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, conducted by the Rev. C. S. Black of the Milroy M. E. church, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Baldrige of Indianapolis. She is survived by her husband, daughter and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seward Whiteman, of Milroy.

TRAIN HITS COLT.

TO BE BIG EVENT FOR RUSHVILLE

Annual Track and Field Meet and Oratorical of Central Indiana High School League.

DATE IS NOT DEFINITE YET

Will be Either May 8 or May 10. Largest Crowd of High School Students Ever Here Expected.

The annual track and field meet and oratorical of the Central Indiana High School League will be held at the fair grounds here either on Saturday, May 8, or Monday, May 10. The exact date will be left to a vote of the various schools in the league and a definite announcement concerning this is expected soon.

The annual oratorical contest of the league will be held on the night of the track and field meet. The oratorical contest will either be held in the coliseum or the auditorium of the new school building. Interest in both events is quite high here. At least fourteen will contest for the right to represent the Rushville high in the oratorical. The preliminary contest will be held in about two weeks.

Coach Burns is working his track squad overtime in the hopes of capturing the field meet or at least making a good showing. The boys have been out each evening after school now for two weeks and are rapidly rounding into form.

Additional interest has been created in the track meet by the admittance of Richmond into the Central Indiana league. Richmond was given a place in the league a short time ago. The league is composed of Rushville, Connersville, Richmond, Shelbyville, Greenfield, Greenwood, Sheridan and Westfield.

The Richmond track team had a dual meet scheduled with the Steele high school of Dayton for this date, but cancelled to take part in the event here. The Richmond coach believed that more benefit could be derived by keeping up athletic relations with Indiana high schools than with outsiders.

The track and field meet here will be second only to the state meet at Indianapolis. The track at the fair ground will be put in shape and the local school is making arrangements to entertain the largest crowd of athletes ever assembled in Rushville. The local officials will try and make arrangements with the traction line to run cars to the fair grounds on the day of the meet and in this manner the large crowd can be easily handled.

EDDIE WOLTER PLEADS GUILTY

Is Given Minimum Fine and Sentence, $50 and Thirty Days, by Judge Sparks Today.

OTHER CASES ARE NOLLIED

Understood he Promised Never to Engage in Illegal Liquor Business Again.

Eddie Wolter entered a plea of guilty to the charge of operating a "blind tiger" in the circuit court this afternoon and was fined $50 and given thirty days in jail by Judge Sparks. This case was the one growing out of the raid on the Wolter pool room and residence March 4th.

In police court Wolter was fined $350 and given 120 days in jail on this charge. The second case on a similar charge pending in the circuit court was nollied on motion of the prosecuting attorney. It is understood that Wolter promised Judge Sparks he would never again engage in the illegal sale of liquor and on this promise the court gave him the minimum fine under the law.

The case against Wolter that was dismissed was the one in which he received the highest fine. This was the case growing out of the second raid on his home and the jury in police court gave him a fine of $400 and 180 days in jail. The third case against Wolter now pending in police court will be dismissed as the officials believe that the ends of justice have been met.

The fine and costs in the case against Wolter amounted to $90 and this was paid. He immediately began serving the jail sentence of thirty days. The sudden ending of the Wolter cases came as a surprise to many. He was to have gone on trial on the first charge Wednesday of this week. By pleading guilty Wolter saved himself a possible jail sentence of 180 days and a fine the maximum of which could have been $500.

Raymond Springer, of Connersville was on the bench in the circuit court today hearing the case of Morton Barner against John Jamieson. The suit is to foreclose a mechanic's lien, demanding $100. Barber built a house for Jamieson and it is alleged that the defendant did not pay him the money he had coming. Jamieson alleges that Barber was indebted to him and promised to pay some of the debt by working on the house. The case occupied the greater part of the day.

In the case of the City of Rushville against Lewis Heyneman, charged with violating the peddler's ordinance, Judge Sparks overruled a motion to quash. The case is a civil case and the motion to quash stands as a demurrer.

Mollie J. ance has dismissed her suit against her husband, J. Frank Vance, for support money.

The divorce suit of Nancy Crabtree against Milton Crabtree was dismissed for want of prosecution. The case has been pending on the docket a long time and no action taken. The defendant defaulted and the necessary five dollars was never deposited with the prosecuting attorney.

FIRST CORN PLANTED.

As far as is known Dave Webster, As far as is known Dave Webster, of Posey township, is the first farmer in Rush county planting corn this spring. Mr. Webster to gain this honor planted ten acres Saturday. Corn planting in the county is not general until about the first of May and Mr. Webster got the jump of several weeks on the other farmers.

Tom Gallagher's Information

By EDITH V. ROSS

Tom Gallagher's term in state prison was finished. He was given some money for present use and started down the street. Tom had nowhere to go and there seemed to be no use looking for a job. That day of making a living by honest work had passed. He had tried work and had tried house-breaking. Several terms at hard labor in prison had led him to prefer hard labor in the open. But if he could get a job—which was not likely without a recommendation, which he did not possess—it wouldn't be long before some one who knew him for what he was would come along and give him away.

He stopped at a restaurant and had a meal, after which he bought a cigar and enjoyed the first good smoke in a long while. Then he walked on into the residence part of the city, inspecting premises with a view to finding one of easy access, from which he might extract something which he might exchange for funds against the time when his meager purse should again need replenishment.

Coming to a fine residence that stood in a lot so large that there were no other houses near it, he stopped and looked it over carefully. There was an arbor for grapes from which a second story window might be reached, and most of the windows on the main floor were not so high but that they could be reached from the ground.

With a view to looking for a weak spot he entered the premises and went round to the rear. Through a window he saw a woman washing dishes. She saw him, too, and to divert suspicion he knocked at the kitchen door and asked if that was Mr. Smith's house. He was taken all aback when the woman said that it was.

"Mr. Jacob Smith?"

The woman replied in the affirmative.

"Mr. Jacob Brown Smith?"

"Yes, Mr. Jacob Brown Smith lives here. Do you wish to see him?"

Tom, not having sufficient wit to extricate himself from such a hole, stood looking at the woman shamefacedly and without reply.

"You don't want to see the owner of the house at all. You are reconnoitering with a view to breaking in to carry off valuables. I saw you sizing up the chances of an entry from the arbor and giving a professional glance at the second story rear window. You ought to know that the safest way for a job like that is to take a servant in and have the whole thing opened up to you."

"Are you in the biz?" asked Tom.

"I know all about the craft and can tell one of them on sight. I'm tired of taking risks and will never take another unless I'm cocksure that there's no chance of my getting caught, and the pay must be big."

"What luck?" exclaimed Tom. "I never thought to find a helper in here. You just put me on to the game and you can make your own terms as to the divvy."

The woman stood looking at Tom with an eye that puzzled him. Then she said:

"I reckon I'll trust you. I've had a lot of experience with your kind, and if a person has any good in him at all I can tell it. You won't give me away."

It was arranged between the two that Tom should come to the house that night at 12. He was to find a kitchen window unlocked, through which he might expect an entrance. A back staircase would lead him to a safe built in the wall and he would find the key under a rug near by. He was to take the silver and any cash he might find in the safe and go out with it as he came in. Having turned the swag into cash, he was to meet the woman that day week at the north-west corner of the city park and deliver two-thirds of the profit. Tom was surprised at being so largely trusted, but this didn't trouble him a bit.

At the appointed hour he appeared at the window and found it unlocked, entered, went up the back staircase, found the key of the safe under the rug and was opening the safe door when suddenly every electric light blazed out at once. Feeling a hand on his shoulder, he turned and looked into the face of a policeman. At the same time he heard a rustle of a dress and the woman with whom he had made the deal appeared on the scene in evening costume.

"Shall I take him away, ma'am?"

"Wait a minute; I wish to speak to him." Then, turning to Tom, she added:

"When you called this afternoon, both my servants having left me, I was doing my own work. I spend a good deal of my time in the work of rescuing prisoners and recognized you as one I had seen behind bars. You are a better man than you look to be. If you were not handicapped how would you like to earn an honest living?"

"I'd like it mighty well, ma'am," gasped Tom.

A lengthy conversation followed, at the end of which the police were dismissed and Tom was to report the next morning for duty as chauffeur. He appeared, as agreed, and did not leave his employer's service for a number of years. When he did he took with him her recommendation for honesty and faithfulness.

The lady was celebrated as a worker with prisoners and possessed a wonderful influence over them.

ROBERTS SENTENCED TO SIX YEARS IN PRISON

sentenced, it was necessary for his companion conspirator to pass the hat several times on the train. Green boarded the train without a cent in his pocket and when the conductor presently put him off, Frankie Hess passed the hat.

Four of the confessed men were not here today. They were Harry Nolton, Bert T. Osser, Add Rogers and John Clark. Clark is quarantined with smallpox. Hess, who passed the hat for Green, was ill today, having been under a doctor's care during the night.

Stiff sentences had been freely predicted for Mayor Roberts, Judge Redman and other ringleaders of the conspiracy, while there had been much speculation as to what sort of sentences would be given the eighty-nine who confessed. It had been expected that Chief's Holler and Nugent would not get off without a prison sentence.

The possible cumulative punishment under the four counts of the indictment—and each man was found guilty of the offenses in each of the four counts—is nineteen years imprisonment and $25,000 fines. The penalty under each count follows:

First count, Section 19.—Conspiracy to injure persons in the exercise of civil rights; fine, $5,000 imprisonment, ten years.

Second count, Section 37.—Conspiracy to defraud the United States fine $10,000, imprisonment, two years.

Third count, Section 37.—Conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States; fine $10,000, imprisonment, two years.

Fourth count, Section 215.—Use of the mails to promote frauds, fine $1,000, imprisonment, five years.

Possibly the greatest suspense was felt by the eighty-nine confessed conspirators as they entered the court room today. The reason for this was that they had great doubt whether their confessions and the fact that they had aided the government greatly to make its case would gain them their freedom, whereas those who fought the case had little suspense because prison sentences were generally expected.

The reason for the great fear of the men who confessed was that the attorney general since the confessions were made, has ruled that a

FEDS LOOK GOOD ON EARLY DOPE

Sheridan Says Chicago and Newark Look to be Pennant Contenders At This Time

CONSIDERED NEAR BIG LEAGUE

Question of How Walter Johnson Will Perform This Year Worries Many Fans

BY HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for United Press.)

New York, Apr. 12.—Well fans, what do you think of 'em, the Feds I mean? After reading the accounts in the Sunday pinks yesterday of the Feds first games and the inaugural dope. I must say they look pretty good to me. There can be no dispute that the Feds are near-big league class if not really "arrived". There is also no question but what they are capable of putting up a much improved game over last year. Every team practically, shows a new bunch of stars, present, potential and a few time-dimmed. But today the race of the Feds looks like it would be even more closely contested and, on the face of first gate receipts, will apparently reap financial success larger than 1914.

On first performance from the Chifeds and the new Newark seem to be the contenders, but its a long road for the Grand Old Dope to travel before the season ends.

A rumor was wafted up here from Washington today that "King" Walter Johnson may be the bone (not ivory) of a legal scrap between the Americans and Feds as a thrilling byplay of the American season's opening. An injunction suit against the P. P.—(Peerless Pitcher)—is reported to be up the Feds' sleeve to spring upon the opening day. This rumor has been constantly revived since Walter flopped back to Organized Baseball—that before he could fling a ball in the opening game at the capital, an injunction writ would be served upon him to test his ownership because of his signing a contract to play with the Kawfeds.

How Johnson will perform this year is a development anxiously waited by thousands of fans—and Walter himself I imagine. He had an off year last year, but finished with a record that would have been good enough to garner a raise in salary for most pitchers. Maybe Walter went into the clouds when he launched upon a matrimonial career last year. Here's hoping he's the same or a better "smokeball" this year.

RUSHVILLE LOST FIRST OF SEASON

Manager Davidson's Team Went Down in Defeat at Hamilton by 3 to 1 Score.

BOTH PITCHERS WORKED

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

Hamilton, Ohio, April 12.—Manager Davidson's Rushville crew went down in defeat before the Hamilton team Sunday afternoon in a well played game by a score of 3 to 1. Both teams played in mid-season form but the pitchers were not permitted to extend themselves as the day was cold and damp. Both teams batted hard and it was only after the hardest kind of work that Hamilton succeeded in getting the lead.

Decatur and Dannebauer pitched for the Krebs while both Vordenburg and Lefty Fox worked hard for Rushville. The game was the first for Rushville while the Krebs have played several games this season. The contest gave Rushville good practice.

FORFEITS PUT UP BY ALL CLUBS

Six Teams of Indiana State League Post $200 as Guarantee 'to Complete Season

SCHEDULE NOT ADOPTED

Thought Best to Wait Until Excursion Dates Are Announced. Meeting at Connersville

The schedule of the Indiana State League was not adopted yesterday at the meeting in Connersville, the league members preferring to wait until the railroads announce the Sunday excursion dates. The meeting was an important one and lasted some four hours.

All six of the clubs, Richmond, Rushville, Newcastle, Cambridge City, Connersville and Cincinnati posted the necessary forfeits of $200 each as a guarantee of good faith. The money was placed in the hands of the treasurer, Dr. Littel of Cambridge City and will be deposited so as to draw interest and the money thus made will be divided among the clubs or go towards the league expense.

Several schedules were submitted but it was thought best to wait the action of the railroads. When the schedule is adopted Rushville will play the opening game away from home. To determine which of the four home clubs would play the first game away from home a drawing was pulled off and Rushville was the lucky one. Some club had to play the first game away from home and as the drawing was fair to every club, Rushville has no kick coming on playing away from home the first game of the league schedule.

Because of poor transportation facilities from Newcastle to Cincinnati, on Sundays' the question of getting the players from Newcastle to Connersville and connect with the C. H. & D., was considered. The plan is to use motor trucks. No definite action was taken but the plan was favored by all.

The constitution of the league was adopted. The constitution regulates the duties of the umpires and also stipulates the fines the umpires may impose. The constitution is quite binding. With the forfeits posted the league is ready for business and it is hoped to adopt the schedule soon.

The league adopted the Goldsmith baseball and this ball will be used in every league game. Several balls were considered, among them being Spauldings and the Spinney ball. A majority favored the Goldsmith ball and it was adopted.

The following attended the meeting: Jack Remington, Connersville; Frank Frohnappfel and Dr. W. C. Littel, Cambridge City; Otto Barnbaug, Cincinnati; Harry Patti, George Brehm, L. M. Shaw, Richmond; Frank C. Ritter, Newcastle; Denny Ryan, Mark Purcell, H. G. Hackman, Still Wilkinson, A. C. Hiner, and L. C. Sharp of Rushville.

COMPANY TO BE INVESTIGATED

Attorney General Will Ask Probe by Marion County Grand Jury of the Anchor Life

SOME INSURANCE SOLD HERE

First Step is Suit for Receiver Filed at the Request of the Auditor of State

Richard M. Milburn, attorney general is quoted in Indianapolis newspapers as saying he will ask a thorough investigation by the Marion county grand jury of the Anchor Life Insurance company, with headquarters in Indianapolis, following the filing of a suit in a Marion county superior court for a receiver for the company.

Some insurance in the Anchor has been sold here and there are still a number of policy holders of the company in this city.

The suit for a receiver was filed as the result of a request by Dale J. Crittenger, auditor of state. The complaint is brief. It alleges that the Anchor Life Insurance Company is insolvent. Its obligations and liabilities far exceed its assets, the complaint says. The attorney general asks that the company be dissolved.

Mr. Milburn said that some time today he probably will file an affidavit in connection with the case asking that the court take immediate action toward appointing a receiver. He asserted he understood the company's officials had said they would fight any proceedings the state might institute.

At the offices of the company yesterday it was said that neither the president, secretary nor any of the officers were in the city and that it was not known when any of them would be here. Questions were referred to a woman who said she was cashier of the company. She said there was nothing to give out concerning the suit.

According to the letter sent by the auditor of state to the attorney general, the liabilities of the company, exclusive of capital stock, are $44,848.09 and the assets $372,195.79, in the opinion of the examiners for the insurance department of the auditors office. The letter sets forth the statement of the financial condition of the company as made by it as follows: Assets $459,555.79, and the liabilities, exclusive of capital stock, $402,848.08.

The examiner or the state insurance department, the letter to Milburn said, had deducted $65,500 of collateral loans from the assets listed by the company because they were secured by deposits of stock which the examiner considered of little or no value. The sum of $21,750 was deducted from the real estate assets. The company reported its equity in the Willoughby Building as worth $51,750. The letter says the building is appraised at $115,000 and carries a mortgage of $85,000 which would make the equity worth $30,000, or the $21,750, deducted, less than the book value. To the liabilities the examiner added $42,000 due a local trust company.

The name of the president of the company is said to be T. W. Wilson and the secretary is G. H. Craft.

CITY'S FUTURE IS CONSIDERED

into which they have plunged themselves.

As a matter of fact there are some 'blind tigers' in Rushville, vicious ones. Not one hundred but a limited number. These, however, in due course of time will be captured and their pelts hung up in the city's hall of justice as trophies of Rushville's victory over wild beasts. At present there are ten government liquor licenses held in Rushville. Four of these by druggists and six by other parties. The law permits the shipment of liquor into "dry" territory for private use. It is also legal for druggists to handle liquor for medicinal purposes. Why then a government liquor license other than the above in 'dry' territory if not for ulterior purposes?"

Dr. A. W. Jamieson's theme was, "What the Citizens of Rushville Have a Right to Expect of Their Officers." He said in part:

"Rushville has been going some. A few weeks ago we had a very undesirable name—that of a 'boot-legging town.' But some changes have taken place. Our laws forbidding the traffic in liquor have become a terror to evil-doers and a satisfaction to them that do well. The majority of our people have said with their ballots, 'We want a 'dry' town, so far as the whiskey business is concerned. We are here tonight to let the officers know and to let criminals know that the law abiding people are with the officers for the enforcement of those laws that will save us from the curse of booze.

We do not single out this law as the only one we want enforced. But as I understand it this meeting is to put emphasis upon this one matter. We do not want falling leaves burned after dark, but we are not here to put emphasis upon the enforcement of that law at the present time. The highest success in law enforcement is to prevent people from breaking the law. I believe in punishing offenders, but I am always sorry when a man has to be imprisoned or fined. Prevention is better than cure. Our officers have the double duty of preventing the unlawful sale of liquor, and seeing that offenders are duly punished. How we appreciate our officers. Rom. 13:4 speaks of the civil officer as Ministers of God. We preachers are God's ministers in the church; our officers are God's ministers in civil affairs. The liberties we prize, and the rights we would maintain are dependent upon the faithful work of our officers. We have a right to expect:

"That they will represent the better element of the community. Every community has its good citizens. They are the normal and financial strength of the community. Every community was its less desirable citizens. They must be restrained by law, or punished for its violation, if the peace and good order of the community is to be maintained. We have a right to expect that our officers will, themselves, be obedient to the laws of the city; and really represent the law abiding forces of the community.

"We have a right to expect that they will have a high regard for their oath of office. This applies to jurymen who may be called to serve as well as to the permanent officials. We know the criminal class have little regard for their oath, but when a man is elected and takes the oath, he not only is obligated to men but to God to discharge aright the duties of his office.

"We do not expect our officers to make alms or to unmake them. Possibly they wish there were certain added laws. I wish there were. I wish we had a law making it an offense to ship liquor into 'dry' territory. I wish we had a law prohibiting the United States from selling a retail liquor tax receipt to a meat market or a restaurant or a lodge in a 'dry' town. I think we ought to have such laws, but we do not have them and our officers must do without them. Some laws may be on the statute books which some people do not like. It is not the business or our officers to annul these or make them a dead letter.

"We have a right to expect that in enforcing the laws, they will know but two classes of people; the law-abiding and the law-breaking. The law-abiding cause no trouble. Law-breakers belong to the other class and we expect them all to look alike to our officers. The people of this community want the sale of liquor, as a beverage, stopped. We want every citizen of Rushville to obey the laws. If anybody persists in breaking the law, we care not who he is, we want him so punished that he will not repeat the offense; and we have a right to expect that our officers will see that this is done.

As the hour was growing late, Dr. D. I. Lambert spoke briefly of what the officers have a right to expect of the citizens of Rushville. He pointed out that he had not obtained the views of any officers, so that they were not responsible for anything he said. He declared he believed in all that had been said, but that there were two sides to every question.

"If we were under autocratic government," he asserted, "we might excuse ourselves, but we have no such right. We not only make the laws, but we support those who execute them and they have a right to expect our support. As we leave the church tonight, any officer may have a right to ask the assistance of any citizen, according to the law."

"But even a more important thing than putting into effect the law," he continued, "there must be the right respect for the law if there is that right respect, it must come from the people. There should be the right kind of atmosphere to enable the government to enforce law. The public schools have great influence, but standing back of them is the church of Jesus Christ. If we only had something to impel men to do right instead of having men to govern them. There must be back of the effort in negatives something positive. The most inconsistent thing in the world is to try to establish something positive. The most inconsistent thing in the world is to try to establish something worth while and not stand back of the church and Bible school."

The Rev. A. D. Batchelor spoke last on "The Substitute for the Saloon." Some ministers before him had been remarking about the fight, which reminded him, he said, of what the Duke of Wellington said, when asked what sort of uniform he would wear if he had to fight the battle of Waterloo over again. Wellington replied his shirt sleeves.

In the temperance fight, he said, "some of us have been working in our shirt sleeves and some harsh things have been said." But an insult, he said, is like mud; it brushes off easily when dry.

"I am glad the fight is over," he continued. "We are all citizens here and 'wet' and 'dry' alike, we all have to live together. I trust we shall forget some things and be at peace with one another. This question is for both 'wets' and 'dry' and should be discussed in all communities whether 'wet' or 'dry'. Every city should have a social center, and the city with saloons should be more interested. So far we have expressed ourselves only in the negative; we must put something in place of the saloon.

"The tenth commandments said 'Thou shalt not' and there was nothing constructive until Christ came. 'Let ye love one another.' So far as the saloons are concerned, we have said, 'Thou shalt not.' We should now provide something."

He said stores and pool rooms were the only places for young men to congregate now. He said he saw no harm in pool and billiards, but that pool rooms were now places where men congregate who would largely patronize saloons. He asked not to be misunderstood. He did not say every man who entered a pool room would congregate in a saloon. He declared the belief that the influence of the pool room on the whole was unwholesome. He reiterated he was making no charge against pool rooms.

"Evil companionships corrupt good morals" he quoted from Paul. "Moral problems are largely problems of young men," the speaker continued, "Therefore, it is important we have a saloon substitute."

He called attention to suggestions which had been made: that the library be open at night and Sunday afternoons; that a room in the court house adjacent to the library be provided for young men; that the new high school building with its athletic appointments, serve a larger purpose, for young men in and out of school; that a new city building be erected housing library, bowling alley, gymnasium and other things for young men; that a Y. M. C. A. be erected.

He called attention to the fact a Decatur county citizen had given a Y. M. C. A. building for Greensburg and added that someone would have to show him if it was any better county than Rush county.

"There ought to be some wealthy people here," he said in closing, "who would be willing to contribute to an institution like that. Y. M. C. A. experts discourage it in a city of this size and say it should be an experiment first. There are enough wealthy farmers whose boys come to this city and enough wealthy citizens in Rushville to erect a building of this sort. We would not need to do it on a large scale. I hope God will put it into the heart of some enterprising citizen or group of enterprising citizens to do this thing."

NOTICE

For the Improvement of a Highway in Anderson Township, Rush County, Indiana.

Notice for the improvement of a Highway in Anderson Township, Rush County, Indiana. Notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed in my office for the grading, draining and paving with crushed stone or gravel of a certain highway in Anderson township, Rush County, Indiana, which petition is in words and figures as follows, to-wit:

The undersigned petitioners respectfully represent to your Honorable Board, that this petition is signed by at least fifty free holders and voters of Anderson township, Rush County, Indiana; that there is an existing public highway in said township described as follows:

Beginning at the southwest corner of Section 30, township 12 north, range 10 east and running thence north along the line separating ranges 9 and 10, to the southwest corner of Section 19, township and range aforesaid, where the same joins an existing free gravel or macadamized road.

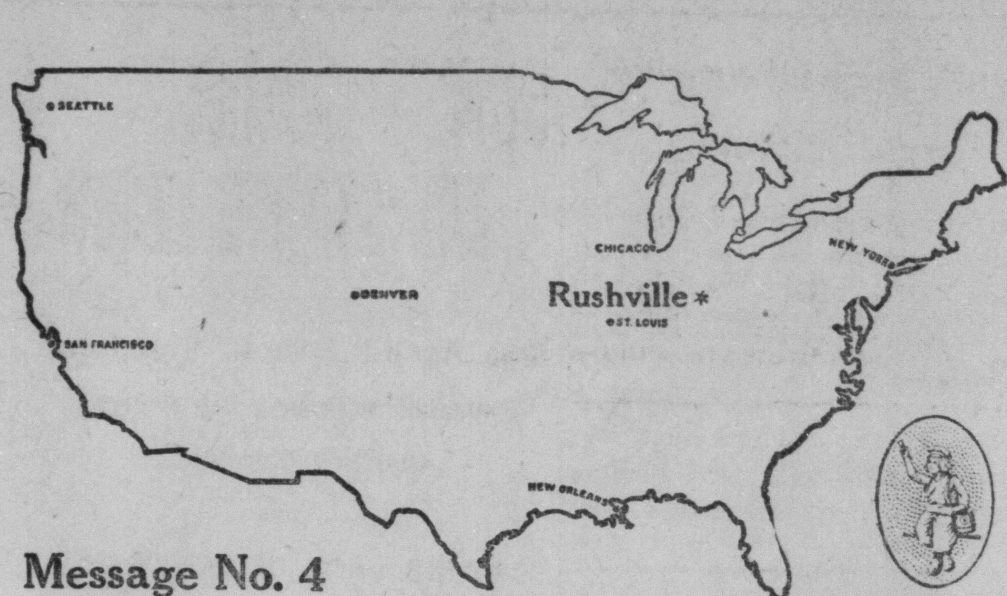

Your petitioners respectfully petition that said highway be improved by grading, draining and paving the same with crushed stone. Said stone to be what is known as the "Kincaid Stone" or its equivalent and that said highway be constructed in such manner as to make what is known as a water bound macadam pike and that said highway remain the same width as the same now is. That all necessary drains, side drains, bridges, culverts and sewer tile therein be so constructed as to properly drain and protect said road when so constructed.

Said petitioners further show that said Anderson township has no incorporated town within it, neither has it a city within its border and that said road will be of public utility to grade, drain, and pave the same as herein prayed. That the costs thereof will be less than the benefits occasioned thereby; that said road will not pass into or through any incorporated town or city; that said road connects with the south line of said Anderson township and with an existing free gravel or macadam road at the north end thereof.

Said petitioners further show that said road is not more than three miles in length but is in fact but little over one mile in length; and that a United States rural mail route passes over the entire length thereof and that the township school hack route passed over the same.

Wherefore your petitioners ask that said highway be improved, graded, drained and paved as hereinbefore described. Respectfully submitted—L. M. Carr, W. B. Martin, Roy Shelborn, E. J. Norris, Elmer Spurgeon, Bert Spurgeon, John Tuley, Wm. Tuley, Samuel Darnel, Roy Toney, J. M. Brooks, Hugh Sparks, John Cameron, R. Farlow, Reuben Farlow, Joseph Gregg, George Power, J. F. Kneets, J. ## Message No. 4 To the Business Men of Rushville

A young doctor, making a start in a small town, decided that to be prosperous he must look prosperous. He bought a new buggy and two good horses. Although he had only a few patients he always kept on the jump, attending to his patients' smallest needs. People began to notice this young doctor driving about town and they called him because he looked busy and prosperous. He got his start—a start that led to a comfortable practice.

Our town, like this doctor, must look prosperous to be prosperous. Clean streets, attractive store windows, well-painted buildings and dwellings give the prosperous air. Well-painted buildings are greatest of these.

SUIT TO COLLECT TAX STARTS TODAY

Case Against John D. Rockefeller Expected to Come up in Federal Court at Cleveland

CONTEND LACK OF AUTHORITY

(By United Press.)

Cleveland, April 12.—John D. Rockefeller's suit against Cuyahoga county to prevent the collection of taxes on $310,000,000 worth of personal property was to be heard in the federal court today. The recent death of Mrs. Rockefeller, attorneys said, would not prevent an immediate hearing.

Rockefeller contends that this county has no authority to tax millions of dollars worth of stocks and bonds which are listed in other states. At the beginning of proceedings to force payment, Rockefeller abandoned his Cleveland residence and moved to Tarrytown, N. Y.

A SOLDIER'S VISION

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.

For a period of three weeks along the front of our brigade a picket had been murdered on his post every night. The front was a mile long, with the posts within ten rods of each other, and a bushwacker had crept up on the lone picket with all the craft of an Apache and stabbed him to death. The one assassin had killed twenty-two men before any great stir was made about it. All that was done when the matter was finally taken hold of was to put two, three and four men on a post in place of one and to send out small parties to look for a needle in a haystack, as it were.

That all these murders had been committed by one single hand no one doubted. A knife had been used in every instance.

On the night that the order was issued to double the men on the posts I was ill in my tent with a sore throat and fever. My tent mates were on guard or detail, and I realized that I was light headed. I could not fall into a sound sleep, but I dozed at intervals, and the noises of the camp were confused with queer dreams. Of a sudden this confusion cleared away, and I had what you call either a dream or a vision. I saw a man in the uniform of a Federal captain, mounted on a dark bay horse, ride up to a farmhouse. The face and form of rider and horse were as plain to me as if I had seen them in my normal state of health at noonday. The captain was a man of about thirty, blue eyed, with brown hair, brown mustache and a front tooth filled with gold. At the corner of the left eye was a small scar from a wound inflicted years before.

As the officer descended from the saddle and hitched his horse to the fence I saw a woman's face at the window for a moment. The same face was seen again for a moment as she opened the door for the captain. She was a tall, dark haired woman, and the face bore a smile.

As suddenly as the vision came it was blotted out, but it returned again. This time the captain was mounted, and it was night. It was the same house, and his horse wanted to speed too fast and was pulled in. I could not make out how I followed on, but follow I did, and we had just descended a hill and were crossing a creek by a plank bridge when there came a red flash, followed by the report of a fire-arm, and the captain threw up his arms and lurched to the right and fell out of the saddle. The horse sprang to the left off the bridge, which had no rail, landed in the creek and went off among the underbrush. I saw that the officer was dragged along with his foot in the stirrup. I also saw the man who had fired the shot. He was tall and gaunt faced, with long black hair and glittering black eyes and dressed in the rough clothes of a farmer.

When one of my tent mates came in I at once related the dream or vision to him, but neither of us attached any importance to it. One with a fever always has queer dreams and fancies.

A week had gone by and I was all right again when I read in a Washington paper of the singular disappearance of a captain in our brigade. This officer, so it was stated, had left camp on a certain afternoon on his horse and had not been heard of since. My vision came back to me so clearly and I was so sure that it furnished a clue that I reported to my captain. He ridiculed the idea, but sent me to the colonel. My statements were received with a smile, but I was given a pass and a note to the brigadier general. He was a gruff old dog, and he called me a fool before I had spoken ten words. When I had given a close description of the missing officer he began to listen, and the result was that I went out with a squad to search. We passed for two miles over a road I had never set foot on before. We came to a farmhouse I had never seen in my waking moments. We found the black haired woman, and she corroborated my story of the captain's arrival. She was a widow, living with her mother, and the captain had been calling for many weeks, and it was a case of love. A horse had gnawed a fence rail; a horse had pawed up the earth; the captain's horse was a bay. When we returned to the bridge we found the marks where the bushwacker had jumped. We found where the iron shoes of the horse had scraped the stones and where he had clambered over. In the woods, a mile away, we found the horse and the rider.

The captain had been shot through the body. He had been dragged by the stirrup until his body had become tangled among the underbrush. The horse had eaten every bush and limb within reach, but had been without water and was just able to stand. His rider was probably dead within five minutes after being shot. You may have made up your mind to hear that the assassin was also discovered through my dream, but he was not. I have always believed that it was his hand which knifed the pickets, but it is only my belief. No one charged with any of the crimes was ever brought to book so far as I know. I could have identified the bushwacker among a thousand men, but I never had the opportunity. A week after the finding of the captain's body our brigade was marching and fighting forty miles away, and if the assassin was a farmer living in the neighborhood of his crimes he was safe from discovery.

ALL SIGNS PORTEND BUSINESS REVIVAL

President Chicago Board of Trade Warns Against Over Enthusiastic Optimism However.

ADJUSTMENT IS A PROBLEM

(By United Press.)

Chicago, April 12.—Asserting that the signs of the times all portend a great business revival, Charles H. Canby, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, warned against "over enthusiastic optimism" in an interview with the United Press. He declared that despite unmistakable signs of vast business expansion, there must be an adjustment after peace is declared.

"There is little doubt that the European farmer will not be able for some time after the war to produce normal wheat crops," said Canby. "I am encouraged to hope the record crop of last year will be exceeded by perhaps from 50 to 75,000,000 bushels.

"But in the face of these seemingly certain signs of great prosperity let us not forget that adjustment to a normal basis is the problem of the future."

Bladder Weakness Conquered in Rushville Case

New Scientific Prescription Proves Itself Right Here in Town

Mrs. Laura Thomas of 621 Sexton St., Rushville, Ind., says: "One of my family suffered a great deal with inflammation of the Bladder and Kidney trouble. The kidneys were off in action and at night it was necessary to get up quite often. He tried several different so-called remedies for these ills without getting the desired relief. Finally my attention was called to Lloyd's Kidney & Rheumatism Tablets, the new scientific treatment for Bladder and Kidney trouble. I persuaded him to try them. The results were very satisfactory. In a few weeks the pain had disappeared and he is now feeling better in every way. I am glad to recommend Lloyd's to other sufferers."

Applied in Salve Form Over Throat and Chest Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption.

Vapor treatments are best for inflammations of the air passages. The vapors carry the medication direct to the inflamed surfaces without disturbing the stomach, as internal medicines will do. A very convenient vapor treatment is a good application of Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve over the throat and chest, covered with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases vapors that are inhaled with every breath, opening the air passages, loosening the phlegm, and healing the raw surfaces. For deep chest colds, first apply hot wet towels to open the pores. Vick's is then absorbed through the skin, taking out that tightness and soreness. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.

henfruit from Texas has already begun.

The outlook for supplies of "nearby" eggs is also unusually bright—for those who eat eggs, for prices are believed due for a sharp drop. In fact, prices are already on the toboggan. The trouble with the storage situation, according to refrigeration houses, is that they are full of American and Argentine beef held to be shipped to Europe, and have not the usual room for spring egg storage.

One bright cloud on the egg horizon is that Argentine and other South American countries, which usually buy their eggs in Europe, are now buying their supplies in this market. This may help out the threatened egg oversupply. Canada is also said to be in the egg market here to an unusually large extent. The Canadian hens haven't gone on a strike, according to market reports, but the supply there has been corralled by English buyers for the allies, and Canada is now turning to Uncle Sam's hen farms for her domestic supplies.

Some retailers here predict that eggs will hit the rock bottom price of 25 cents a dozen here this spring, after selling up to 55 and 65 during the last few months. The bountiful activities of Mrs. American Hen are already evident in cafes and restaurants, where egg menus are being featured—with profit both to the patrons and proprietors.

Now it's a rat "famine" in New York. While most folks are busy poisoning the rodents, there's one place that complains it hasn't enough. This is the George Crocker Cancer Research Laboratory of Columbia University. In its cancer cure experiments the laboratory uses from 3,000 to 4,000 rats and mice every month. What might be regarded as "fancy" prices for rodents "on the hoof" are paid, for the scientific experts insist that they be delivered alive.

Small boys are paid to catch the rodents and a regular market "price current" is in vogue.

Professor Francis Wood, director of the research funds and of the laboratory, says already much progress has been made in the cancer experiments with the rodents. Many elaborate experiments and observations have been carried on at the laboratory, which is backed by the Crocker fund of $1,500,000 and an additional $50,000 given by the late George C. Crocker prior to his death.

PRISONERS CAN NOT BE TRANSFERRED

Attorney General Says if They Are Once Sent to Jail, They Must Serve Time There

MUST BE SENTENCED TO FARM

According to an opinion given to Charles E. Talkington, superintendent of the state penal farm which opened today in Putnam county, by Richard M. Milburn, attorney general of Indiana, the law does not authorize a judge to transfer a prisoner to the penal farm after the prisoner once has been sentenced to jail. This is contrary to the understanding of Judge Will M. Sparks, who had been given the impression that jail prisoners could be transferred. It was the plan, it is said, to transfer two or three prisoners who are now in the county jail for a long term.

The opinion says, however, that any prisoners sentenced to the penal farm before it opened today could be taken. There were some prisoners sentenced to the penal farm Saturday in Indianapolis by Judge Collins of the Marion county criminal court.

$225,000 IN TAXES STILL ON THE BOOKS

Spring Installment Will Have to be Paid at Rate of $13,000 a Day, if all Comes in.

LAST ONE TOTALED $311,741.60

The final rush for paying the spring installment of taxes is on at the treasurer's office, but the rush is not big enough to suit County Treasurer Williams or Deputy Treasurer Frazee. With seventeen days remaining in which to pay the taxes, it will require about $13,000 a day to clean the amount yet due off the books. Mr. Frazee stated today that he did not see how all the money was going to get in unless the people got busy.

Last year the spring installment amounted to $311,741.60. It is estimated that there has been $100,000 collected thus far on the spring installment with about $225,000 still out. At this rate it will be necessary to collect $13,000 a day from now until the first Monday in May. With many waiting until the last minute, the officials do not see how all are going to pay their taxes. They urge people having complicated taxes to get in as early as possible, as these people hold back others, and there is no necessity for this.

Four Other Members of Terre Haute Democratic Machine Sentenced to 3 Years—Fined $500.

SENTENCED ON EACH COUNT

But They Are Concurrent and Convicted Men Serve Only Longest One—Train Leaves Tomorrow.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Apr. 12—Mayor Donn M. Roberts of Terre Haute was sentenced today in federal court to serve six years in Leavenworth prison. To this was added a fine of $2,000. Roberts was the chief defendant in the Terre Haute election corruption conspiracy trial conducted by the government.

Other sentences pronounced by Judge Anderson were:

Sheriff Dennis Shea, five years and $1,000.

Eli Redman, circuit judge, five years and $1,000.

Harry Montgomery, president of the Terre Haute board of works, 3 years and $500.

George Ehrenhardt, member of the board of works, three years and $500.

Ed Driscoll, assistant city engineer, three years and $500.

Thomas Smith, city judge, three years and $500.

Hilton Redman, two years and $100.

William Crockett, two years and $100.

E. E. Talbott, assistant city engineer, two years and $100.

Lewis Numley, 2 years and $100.

Dr. John E. Green, two years and $100.

Joe Jeffries, confessed gunman, six months in county jail.

The following men received sentences of one year and one day and fines of $100 each:

Maurice Walsh, Charles Houghton, Arthur Gillis, Joe O'Mara, Geo. Sovern, Dan Masselink, Alexander Steele, Joe Strouse, whiskey salesman.

Chief of Police Ed Holler, who

ONLY AS A LAWYER

Indianapolis, April 12.—A. O. Stanley, retiring congressman from Kentucky and attorney for Mayor Donn M. Roberts and most of the 27 Terre Haute politicians who fought the government's case, explained to the United Press today how he felt after it was all over:

"I would not go through this again for a king's ransom," said Stanley. "It has been a terrible siege. I've just felt my way through darkness. I understood the case was to have been prepared before I arrived. I have sat day after day through this trial just feeling my way. The only defendant I knew before I arrived was Roberts. He came to Washington for me. I was just expected to help out and make the closing address. I had to assume charge of it all. The people know I have always been against election corruption. I am here only in the capacity of a lawyer."

CONDEMNS SALOONS.
(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 12.—Federal Judge Anderson took a strong stand against the saloon when he sentenced the 112 Terre Haute politicians today.

"The saloon must go. The time has come to rise up and smash the saloon as we have it now. Of all the election corruption brought out in this case, the saloons were the center and I confess this doesn't make me feel kindly towards these defendants."

was the first of the eighty-nine men who pleaded guilty to be sentenced, received a sentence of one year and one day in Leavenworth and a fine of one dollar.

Judge Anderson began sentencing the men after he had overruled motions for a new trial made by attorneys for Mayor Roberts and others on the grounds that the government had not proved its charge in the count referring to using the mails to defraud.

The sentence in each case was different for each count. The sentence each man will serve is the concurrent sentence given above. Each man was sentenced on each count that in case parts of the indictment are successfully attacked the other sentences will stand.

When Judge Anderson asked before pronouncing sentence whether any of the convicted men or confessed defendants had anything to say, Mayor Roberts did not move, but two of the convicted men, Geo. Ehrenhardt and Lester Hull, attempted to shield Roberts by declaring that while innocent of the crimes charged, they had not been instructed along any lines prior to the election. The government had charged that Roberts held a school for election inspectors.

Judge Anderson announced that at the request of District Attorney Dailey he would not put into effect at once the sentences of John Nugent, John Hines, John Bruns and Frankie Hess, but would hold them as witnesses in the trial of Roy Shattuck and five others May 17. These men are charged with conspiring to commit election frauds to elect Shattuck to congress from the fifth Indiana district on the Republican ticket.

When Maurice Walsh arose and said that his conscience was clear, Judge Anderson asked how it happened that the $1,500 contribution of Crawford Fairbanks was not on the books. He added that Walsh's statement was "as false as can be."

The plans today were for the train for Leavenworth bearing the sentenced men to leave at noon to-morrow. The route was unknown.

The court announced the costs of the trial as $12,000 to be paid by the defendants. The costs have not yet been apportioned. The court announced that bonds would be ten thousand dollars or each year of sentences and that the bonds would have to include a guarantee to pay costs of the trial and fines.

The court announced the cost of the dynamite conspiracy trial here was $32,000; that these costs had ever been paid and he instructed District Attorney Dailey to proceed to collect them.

Other confessed conspirators and convicted men received sentences of varied degrees, the majority of them in the county jail. Bert Hill was fined one dollar and sentenced to serve six months in the Marion county jail.

In order that Frank Green, one of the confessed conspirators, might come here from Terre Haute to be

CITY'S FUTURE IS CONSIDERED

AN AFTERMATH OF ELECTION

Ministers Explain What Officers Have Right to Expect From People and Vice Versa.

Suggestions for the establishment of a social center, what citizens have a right to expect of their officers and what officers have a right to expect of the citizens were some of the things discussed at the union meeting of the churches at the First Presbyterian church last evening.

A. L. Gary, who presided and spoke first, said the meeting was not so much of a ratification as it was to consider what should be done to make the victory complete. He said the election was one time when Rushville pulled together. Mr. Gary, who was chairman of the committee during the last campaign, said that men, women and children all worked to bring about the result. He said the number of volunteers was surprising.

He declared the organization which is planned is to extend into every part of the city. To make Rushville "as dry as a covered bridge," he continued, it must be kept "dry." He recalled the people elect men to enforce the law and then sit down and let them do the work.

"We must let them know we are behind them," he continued. "The only way to settle the question is to make liquor selling a losing game. As long as a man can sell it and make money after paying his fines, he will sell it. We are all citizens of Rushville and have an equal interest here. We should not wait 2 years and then have a 'dry' revival. We should keep on the alert and then if possible we can take a vacation in six months."

The Rev. S. G. Huntington, of the First Baptist church, spoke next concerning "blind tigers." He said it took no argument on his part to prove that the "blind tiger" in Rushville is a live and present issue. He pointed to the circular dated and circulated the day before the recent election by the chairman of the Rushville liberal committee in which it was said: "It is estimated that there are more than one hundred 'blind tigers' in Rushville, some operating today and some tomorrow, but all of them ready to operate at any time, the moment the vigilance of the authorities is relaxed."

"Of course, the arger part of this was campaign dope," continued the speaker. "It came from the liberal committee and naturally that committee was most liberal in handing out its dope. There are approximately 7,000 people in Rushville occupying 1,400 homes. One hundred 'blind tigers' would average one to every seventy people or one to every fourteen homes. This is not only preposterous but ridiculously absurd. But suppose there were 100 'blind tigers' in Rushville?? The 'drys' are not operating them. There were 668 'wet' votes cast in the last election which would mean, according to the Liberal Committee's estimate, that one out of every six and a half 'wets' is a 'blind tiger' operator and a law breaker. Surely this is a pretty hard jolt on the Liberal Committee and its 'wet' satellites. Of course the 'drys' make no such assertions, hence it is up to the 'wets' themselves to deliver themselves from the predicament

FROST SET FOR STAGE TONIGHT

Lower Temperature is Predicted by Weather Man, But it is Doubtful if it Will be Damaging

FARMERS ARE NOT WORRYING

Too Thankful For Rains Which Made Wheat Crop and Pastures to Think About Other Troubles.

Frost is promised for tonight by the weather man. A fall in temperature is also forecast by the weather man. Whether the extreme weather will have any effect on fruit vegetables which are just getting a good start is problematical, although it was stated by many that it was doubtful whether a frost would do any damage at this time unless it was very heavy.

It was more like the middle of March today than the middle of April. The sky was overcast with heavy, foreboding-looking clouds and the wind blew a gale. But the forecaster says that the temperature will rise tomorrow, so there is no fear of any great damage being done by the threatened cold.

Farmers are so thankful for the heavy rains the last two days of last week that they are not worrying much about a frost that so far is nothing more than a prediction. The rains were so heavy all over the county that it was impossible to plow Saturday and in some cases today fields were too wet to plow. The fields, however, that remain unbroken, are very rare.

The rain is exactly what the farmers have been wanting for weeks. They say it means practically the making of the wheat crop, oats crop and the spring pastures. They will not worry if the showers continue for two or three days. Most of them have their plowing well advanced and are not going to be at a disadvantage if they do not get to turn over any more dirt for a few days.

Unless the weather should stay ugly, the changes are corn planting will come earlier in Rush county this year than usual. There are many farmers who could plant corn this week were the weather only warm enough. They have the ground ready. It does not often happen that much corn is planted in Rush county in April, but the present indications are that there will be many acres planted this year before the month ends.

TO BE BIG EVENT FOR RUSHVILLE

Annual Track and Field Meet and Oratorical of Central Indiana High School League.

DATE IS NOT DEFINITE YET

Will be Either May 8 or May 10. Largest Crowd of High School Students Ever Here Expected.

The annual track and field meet and oratorical of the Central Indiana High School League will be held at the fair grounds here either on Saturday, May 8, or Monday, May 10. The exact date will be left to a vote of the various schools in the league and a definite announcement concerning this is expected soon.

The annual oratorical contest of the league will be held on the night of the track and field meet. The oratorical contest will either be held in the coliseum or the auditorium of the new school building. Interest in both events is quite high here. At least fourteen will contest for the right to represent the Rushville high in the oratorical. The preliminary contest will be held in about two weeks.

Coach Burns is working his track squad overtime in the hopes of capturing the field meet or at least making a good showing. The boys have been out each evening after school now for two weeks and are rapidly rounding into form.

Additional interest has been created in the track meet by the admittance of Richmond into the Central Indiana league. Richmond was given a place in the league a short time ago. The league is composed of Rushville, Connersville, Richmond, Shelbyville, Greenfield, Greenwood, Sheridan and Westfield.

The Richmond track team had a dual meet scheduled with the Steele high school of Dayton for this date, but cancelled to take part in the event here. The Richmond coach believed that more benefit could be derived by keeping up athletic relations with Indiana high schools than with outsiders.

The track and field meet here will be second only to the state meet at Indianapolis. The track at the fair ground will be put in shape and the local school is making arrangements to entertain the largest crowd of athletes ever assembled in Rushville. The local officials will try and make arrangements with the traction line to run cars to the fair grounds on the day of the meet and in this manner the large crowd can be easily handled.

EDDIE WOLTER PLEADS GUILTY

Is Given Minimum Fine and Sentence, $50 and Thirty Days, by Judge Sparks Today.

OTHER CASES ARE NOLLIED

Understood he Promised Never to Engage in Illegal Liquor Business Again.

Eddie Wolter entered a plea of guilty to the charge of operating a "blind tiger" in the circuit court this afternoon and was fined $50 and given thirty days in jail by Judge Sparks. This case was the one growing out of the raid on the Wolter pool room and residence March 4th.

In police court Wolter was fined $350 and given 120 days in jail on this charge. The second case on a similar charge pending in the circuit court was nollied on motion of the prosecuting attorney. It is understood that Wolter promised Judge Sparks he would never again engage in the illegal sale of liquor and on this promise the court gave him the minimum fine under the law.

The case against Wolter that was dismissed was the one in which he received the highest fine. This was the case growing out of the second raid on his home and the jury in police court gave him a fine of $400 and 180 days in jail. The third case against Wolter now pending in police court will be dismissed as the officials believe that the ends of justice have been met.

The fine and costs in the case against Wolter amounted to $90 and this was paid. He immediately began serving the jail sentence of thirty days. The sudden ending of the Wolter cases came as a surprise to many. He was to have gone on trial on the first charge Wednesday of this week. By pleading guilty Wolter saved himself a possible jail sentence of 180 days and a fine the maximum of which could have been $500.

Raymond Springer, of Connersville was on the bench in the circuit court today hearing the case of Morton Barmer against John Jamieson. The suit is to foreclose a mechanic's lien, demanding $100. Barmer built a house for Jamieson and it is alleged that the defendant did not pay him the money he had coming. Jamieson alleges that Barmer was indebted to him and promised to pay some of the debt by working on the house. The case occupied the greater part of the day.

In the case of the City of Rushville against Lewis Heyneman, charged with violating the peddler's ordinance, Judge Sparks overruled a motion to quash. The case is a civil case and the motion to quash stands as a demurrer.

Mollie J. anee has dismissed her suit against her husband, J. Frank Vance, for support money.

The divorce suit of Nancy Crabtree against Milton Crabtree was dismissed for want of prosecution. The case has been pending on the docket or a long time and no action taken. The defendant defaulted and the necessary five dollars was never deposited with the prosecuting attorney.

Mr. Webster to gain this honor planted ten acres Saturday. Corn planting in the county is not general until about the first of May and Mr. Webster got the jump of several weeks on the other farmers.

Tom Gallagher's Information

By EDITH V. ROSS

Tom Gallagher's term in state prison was finished. He was given some money for present use and started down the street. Tom had nowhere to go and there seemed to be no use looking for a job. That day of making a living by honest work had passed. He had tried work and had tried house-breaking. Several terms at hard labor in prison had led him to prefer hard labor in the open. But if he could get a job—which was not likely without a recommendation, which he did not possess—it wouldn't be long before some one who knew him for what he was would come along and give him away.

He stopped at a restaurant and had a meal, after which he bought a cigar and enjoyed the first good smoke in a long while. Then he walked on into the residence part of the city, inspecting premises with a view to finding one of easy access, from which he might extract something which he might exchange for funds against the time when his meager purse should again need replenishment.

Coming to a fine residence that stood in a lot so large that there were no other houses near it, he stopped and looked it over carefully. There was an arbor for grapes from which a second story window might be reached, and most of the windows on the main floor were not so high but that they could be reached from the ground.

With a view to looking for a weak spot he entered the premises and went round to the rear. Through a window he saw a woman washing dishes. She saw him, too, and to divert suspicion he knocked at the kitchen door and asked if that was Mr. Smith's house. He was taken all aback when the woman said that it was.

"Mr. Jacob Smith?"

The woman replied in the affirmative.

"Mr. Jacob Brown Smith?"

"Yes, Mr. Jacob Brown Smith lives here. Do you wish to see him?"

Tom, not having sufficient wit to extricate himself from such a hole, stood looking at the woman shamefacedly and without reply.

"You don't want to see the owner of the house at all. You are reconnoitering with a view to breaking in to carry off valuables. I saw you sizing up the chances of an entry from the arbor and giving a professional glance at the second story rear window. You ought to know that the safest way for a job like that is to take a servant in and have the whole thing opened up to you."

"Are you in the biz?" asked Tom.

"I know all about the craft and can tell one of them on sight. I'm tired of taking risks and will never take another unless I'm cocksure that there's no chance of my getting caught, and the pay must be big."

"What luck!" exclaimed Tom. "I never thought to find a helper in here. You just put me on to the game and you can make your own terms as to the divvy."

The woman stood looking at Tom with an eye that puzzled him. Then she said:

"I reckon I'll trust you. I've had a lot of experience with our kind, and if a person has any good in him at all I can tell it. You won't give me away."

It was arranged between the two that Tom should come to the house that night at 12. He was to find a kitchen window unlocked, through which he might expect an entrance. A back staircase would lead him to a safe built in the wall and he would find the key under a rug near by. He was to take the silver and any cash he might find in the safe and go out with it as he came in. Having turned the swag into cash, he was to meet the woman that day week at the northwest corner of the city park and deliver two-thirds of the profit. Tom was surprised at being so largely trusted, but this didn't trouble him a bit.

At the appointed hour he appeared at the window and found it unlocked, entered, went up the back staircase, found the key of the safe under the rug and was opening the safe door when suddenly every electric light blazed out at once. Feeling a hand on his shoulder, he turned and looked into the face of a policeman. At the same time he heard a rustle of a dress and the woman with whom he had made the deal appeared on the scene in evening costume.

"Shall I take him away, ma'am?"

"Wait a minute; I wish to speak to him." Then, turning to Tom, she added:

"When you called this afternoon, both my servants having left me, I was doing my own work. I spend a good deal of my time in the work of rescuing prisoners and recognized you as one I had seen behind bars. You are a better man than you look to be. If you were not handicapped how would you like to earn an honest living?"

"I'd like it mighty well, ma'am," gasped Tom.

A lengthy conversation followed, at the end of which the police were dismissed and Tom was to report the next morning for duty as chauffeur. He appeared, as agreed, and did not leave his employer's service for a number of years. When he did he took with him her recommendation for honesty and faithfulness.

The lady was celebrated as a worker with prisoners and possessed a wonderful influence over them.

ROBERTS SENTENCED TO SIX YEARS IN PRISON

sentenced, it was necessary for his companion conspirator to pass the hat several times on the train. Green boarded the train without a cent in his pocket and when the conductor presently put him off, Frankie Hess passed the hat.

Four of the confessed men were not here today. They were Harry Nolton, Bert T. Osser, Add Rogers and John Clark. Clark is quarantined with smallpox. Hess, who passed the hat for Green, was ill today, having been under a doctor's care during the night.

Stiff sentences had been freely predicted for Mayor Roberts, Judge Redman and other ringleaders of the conspiracy, while there had been much speculation as to what sort of sentences would be given the eighty-nine who confessed. It had been expected that Chiefs' Holler and Nugent would not get off without a prison sentence.

The possible cumulative punishment under the four counts of the indictment—and each man was found guilty of the offenses in each of the four counts—is nineteen years imprisonment and $25,000 fines. The penalty under each count follows:

First count, Section 19.—Conspiracy to injure persons in the exercise of civil rights; fine, $5,000 imprisonment, ten years.

Second count, Section 37.—Conspiracy to defraud the United States fine $10,000, imprisonment, two years.

Third count, Section 37.—Conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States; fine $10,000, imprisonment, two years.

Fourth count, Section .215.—Use of the mails to promote frauds, fine $1,000, imprisonment, five years.

Possibly the greatest suspense was felt by the eighty-nine confessed conspirators as they entered the court room today. The reason for this was that they had great doubt whether their confessions and the fact that they had aided the government greatly to make its case would gain them their freedom, whereas those who fought the case had little suspense because prison sentences were generally expected.

The reason for the great fear of the men who confessed was that the attorney general since the confessions were made, has ruled that a

FEDS LOOK GOOD ON EARLY DOPE

Sheridan Says Chicago and Newark Look to be Pennant Contenders At This Time

CONSIDERED NEAR BIG LEAGUE

Question of How Walter Johnson Will Perform This Year Worries Many Fans

BY HAL SHERIDAN (Written for United Press.) New York, Apr. 12.—Well fans, what do you think of 'em, the Feds I mean? After reading the accounts in the Sunday pinks yesterday of the Feds first games and the inaugural dope, I must say they look pretty good to me. There can be no dispute that the Feds are near-big league class if not really "arrived". There is also no question but what they are capable of putting up a much improved game over last year. Every team practically, shows a new bunch of stars, present, potential and a few time-dimmed. But today the race of the Feds looks like it would be even more closely contested and, on the face of first gate receipts, will apparently reap financial success larger than 1914.

On first performance from the Chifeds and the new Newark seem to be the contenders, but its a long road for the Grand Old Dope to travel before the season ends.

A rumor was wafted up here from Washington today that "King" Walter Johnson may be the bone (not ivory) of a legal scrap between the Americans and Feds as a thrilling byplay of the American season's opening. An injunction suit against the P. P.—(Peerless Pitcher)—is reported to be up the Feds' sleeve to spring upon the opening day. This rumor has been constantly revived since Walter flopped back to Organized Baseball—that before he could fling a ball in the opening game at the capital, an injunction writ would be served upon him to test his ownership because of his signing a contract to play with the Rawfeds.

How Johnson will perform this year is a development anxiously waited by thousands of fans—and Walter himself I imagine. He had an off year last year, but finished with a record that would have been good enough to garner a raise in salary for most pitchers. Maybe Walter went into the clouds when he launched upon a matrimonial career last year. Here's hoping he's the same or a better "smokeball" this year.

RUSHVILLE LOST FIRST OF SEASON

Manager Davidson's Team Went Down in Defeat at Hamilton by 3 to 1 Score.

BOTH PITCHERS WORKED

(Special to the Daily Republican.) Hamilton, Ohio, April 12.—Manager Davidson's Rushville crew went down in defeat before the Hamilton team Sunday afternoon in a well played game by a score of 3 to 1. Both teams played in mid-season form but the pitchers were not permitted to extend themselves as the day was cold and damp. Both teams battled hard and it was only after the hardest kind of work that Hamilton succeeded in getting the lead.

Decatur and Dammehauer pitched for the Krebs while both Vordenburg and Lefty Fox worked hard for Rushville. The game was the first for Rushville while the Krebs have played several games this season. The contest gave Rushville good practice.

SCHEDULE NOT ADOPTED

Thought Best to Wait Until Excursion Dates Are Announced. Meeting at Connersville

The schedule of the Indiana State League was not adopted yesterday at the meeting in Connersville, the league members preferring to wait until the railroads announce the Sunday excursion dates. The meeting was an important one and lasted some four hours. All six of the clubs, Richmond, Rushville, Newcastle, Cambridge City, Connersville and Cincinnati posted the necessary forfeits of $200 each as a guarantee of good faith. The money was placed in the hands of the treasurer, Dr. Littel of Cambridge City and will be deposited so as to draw interest and the money thus made will be divided among the clubs or go towards the league expense.

Several schedules were submitted but it was thought best to wait the action of the railroads. When the schedule is adopted Rushville will play the opening game away from home. To determine which of the four home clubs would play the first game away from home a drawing was pulled off and Rushville was the lucky one. Some club had to play the first game away from home and as the drawing was fair to every club, Rushville has no kick coming on playing away from home the first game of the league schedule.

Because of poor transportation facilities from Newcastle to Cincinnati, on Sundays the question of getting the players from Newcastle to Connersville and connect with the C. H. & D., was considered. The plan is to use motor trucks. No definite action was taken but the plan was favored by all.

The constitution of the league was adopted. The constitution regulates the duties of the umpires and also stipulates the fines the umpires may impose. The constitution is quite binding. With the forfeits posted the league is ready for business and it is hoped to adopt the schedule soon.

The league adopted the Goldsmith baseball and this ball will be used in every league game. Several balls were considered, among them being Spauldings and the Spinney ball. A majority favored the Goldsmith ball and it was adopted.

The following attended the meeting: Jack Remington, Connersville; Frank Frohnappf and Dr. W. C. Littel, Cambridge City; Otto Burnhagen, Cincinnati; Harry Patti, George Brehm, L. M. Shaw, Richmond; Frank C. Ritter, Newcastle; Denny Ryan, Mark Purcell, H. G. Hackman, Still Wilkinson, A. C. Hiner, and L. C. Sharp of Rushville.

COMPANY TO BE INVESTIGATED

Attorney General Will Ask Probe by Marion County Grand Jury of the Anchor Life

SOME INSURANCE SOLD HERE

First Step is Suit for Receiver Filed at the Request of the Auditor of State

Richard M. Milburn, attorney general is quoted in Indianapolis newspapers as saying he will ask a thorough investigation by the Marion county grand jury of the Anchor Life Insurance company, with headquarters in Indianapolis, following the filing of a suit in a Marion county superior court for a receiver for the company.

Some insurance in the Anchor has been sold here and there are still a number of policy holders of the company in this city.

The suit for a receiver was filed as the result of a request by Dale J. Crittenger, auditor of state. The complaint is brief. It alleges that the Anchor Life Insurance Company is insolvent. Its obligations and liabilities far exceed its assets, the complaint says. The attorney general asks that the company be dissolved.

Mr. Milburn said that some time today he probably will file an affidavit in connection with the case asking that the court take immediate action toward appointing a receiver. He asserted he understood the company's officials had said they would fight any proceedings the state might institute.

At the offices of the company yesterday it was said that neither the president, secretary nor any of the officers were in the city and that it was not known when any of them would be here. Questions were referred to a woman who said she was cashier of the company. She said there was nothing to give out concerning the suit.

According to the letter sent by the auditor of state to the attorney general, the liabilities of the company, exclusive of capital stock, are $44,848.09 and the assets $372,195.79, in the opinion of the examiners for the insurance department of the auditors office. The letter sets forth the statement of the financial condition of the company as made by it as follows: Assets $450,555.70; and the liabilities, exclusive of capital stock, $402,848.08.

The examiner of the state insurance department, the letter to Milburn said, had deducted $65,500 of collateral loans from the assets listed by the company because they were secured by deposits of stock which the examiner considered of little or no value. The sum of $21,750 was deducted from the real estate assets. The company reported its equity in the Willoughby Building as worth $51,750. The letter says the building is appraised at $115,000 and carries a mortgage of $85,000 which would make the equity worth $30,000, or the $21,750 deducted, less than the book value. To the liabilities the examiner added $42,000 due a local trust company.

The name of the president of the company is said to be T. W. Wilson and the secretary is G. H. Craft.

Cleveland, April 12.—John D. Rockefeller's suit against Cuyahoga county to prevent the collection of taxes on $310,000,000 worth of personal property was to be heard in the federal court today. The recent death of Mrs. Rockefeller, attorneys said, would not prevent an immediate hearing.

Rockefeller contends that this county has no authority to tax millions of dollars worth of stocks and bonds which are listed in other states. At the beginning of proceedings to force payment, Rockefeller abandoned his Cleveland residence and moved to Tarrytown, N. Y.

A SOLDIER'S VISION

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.

For a period of three weeks along the front of our brigade a picket had been murdered on his post every night. The front was a mile long, with the posts within ten rods of each other, and a bushwacker had crept up on the lone picket with all the craft of an Apache and stabbed him to death. The one assassin had killed twenty-two men before any great stir was made about it. All that was done when the matter was finally taken hold of was to put two, three and four men on a post in place of one and to send out small parties to look for a needle in a haystack, as it were.

That all these murders had been committed by one single hand no one doubted. A knife had been used in every instance.

On the night that the order was issued to double the men on the posts I was ill in my tent with a sore throat and fever. My tent mates were on guard or detail, and I realized that I was light headed. I could not fall into a sound sleep, but I dozed at intervals, and the noises of the camp were confused with queer dreams. Of a sudden this confusion cleared away, and I had what you call either a dream or a vision. I saw a man in the uniform of a Federal captain, mounted on a dark bay horse, ride up to a farmhouse. The face and form of rider and horse were as plain to me as if I had seen them in my normal state of health at noonday. The captain was a man of about thirty, blue eyed, with brown hair, brown mustache and a front tooth filled with gold. At the corner of the left eye was a small scar from a wound inflicted years before.

As the officer descended from the saddle and hitched his horse to the fence I saw a woman's face at the window for a moment. The same face was seen again for a moment as she opened the door for the captain. She was a tall, dark haired woman, and the face bore a smile.

As suddenly as the vision came it was blotted out, but it returned again. This time the captain was mounted, and it was night. It was the same house, and his horse wanted to speed too fast and was pulled in. I could not make out how I followed on, but follow I did, and we had just descended a hill and were crossing a creek by a plank bridge when there came a red flash, followed by the report of a fire-arm, and the captain threw up his arms and lurched to the right and fell out of the saddle. The horse sprang to the left off the bridge, which had no rail, landed in the creek and went off among the underbrush. I saw that the officer was dragged along with his foot in the stirrup. I also saw the man who had fired the shot. He was tall and gaunt faced, with long black hair and glittering black eyes and dressed in the rough clothes of a farmer.

When one of my tent mates came in I at once related the dream or vision to him, but neither of us attached any importance to it. One with a fever always has queer dreams and fancies.

A week had gone by and I was all right again when I read in a Washington paper of the singular disappearance of a captain in our brigade. This officer, so it was stated, had left camp on a certain afternoon on his horse and had not been heard of since. My vision came back to me so clearly and I was so sure that it furnished a clue that I reported to my captain. He ridiculed the idea, but sent me to the colonel. My statements were received with a smile, but I was given a pass and a note to the brigadier general. He was a gruff old dog, and he called me a fool before I had spoken ten words. When I had given a close description of the missing officer he began to listen, and the result was that I went out with a squad to search. We passed for two miles over a road I had never set foot on before. We came to a farmhouse I had never seen in my waking moments, and she corroborated my story of the captain's arrival. She was a widow, living with her mother, and the captain had been calling for many weeks, and it was a case of love. A horse had gnawed a fence rail; a horse had pawed up the earth; the captain's horse was a bay. When we returned to the bridge we found the marks where the bushwacker had jumped. We found where the iron shoes of the horse had scraped the stones and where he had clambered out. In the woods, a mile away, we found the horse and the rider.

The captain had been shot through the body. He had been dragged by the stirrup until his body had become tangled among the underbrush. The horse had eaten every bush and limb within reach, but had been without water and was just able to stand. His rider was probably dead within five minutes after being shot. You may have made up your mind to hear that the assassin was also discovered through my dream, but he was not. I have always believed that it was his hand which knifed the pickets, but it is only my belief. No one charged with any of the crimes was ever brought to book so far as I know. I could have identified the bushwacker among a thousand men, but I never had the opportunity. A week after the finding of the captain's body our brigade was marching and fighting forty miles away, and if the assassin was a farmer living in the neighborhood of his crimes he was safe from discovery.

ADJUSTMENT IS A PROBLEM

(By United Press.)

Chicago, April 12.—Asserting that the signs of the times all portend a great business revival, Charles H. Canby, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, warned against "over enthusiastic optimism" in an interview with the United Press. He declared that despite unmistakable signs of vast business expansion, there must be an adjustment after peace is declared.

"There is little doubt that the European farmer will not be able for some time after the war to produce normal wheat crops," said Canby. "I am encouraged to hope the record crop of last year will be exceeded by perhaps from 50 to 75,000,000 bushels.

"But in the face of these seemingly certain signs of great prosperity let us not forget that adjustment to a normal basis is the problem of the future."

Finally my attention was called to Lloyd's Kidney & Rheumatism Tablets, the new scientific treatment for Bladder and Kidney trouble. I persuaded him to try them. The results were very satisfactory. In a few weeks the pain had disappeared and he is now feeling better in every way. I am glad to recommend Lloyd's to other sufferers."

Applied in Salve Form Over Throat and Chest Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption.

Vapor treatments are best for inflammations of the air passages. The vapors carry the medication direct to the inflamed surfaces without disturbing the stomach, as internal medicines will do. A very convenient vapor treatment is a good application of Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve over the throat and chest, covered with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases vapors that are inhaled with every breath, opening the air passages, loosening the phlegm, and healing the raw surfaces. For deep chest colds, first apply hot wet towels to open the pores. Vick's is then absorbed through the skin, taking out that tightness and soreness. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.

.... Dress Fabrics of Every Kind....

Spring styles are settled. Women have seen and admired the modes—many garments are being planned. The question you ask is,

WHERE SHALL I PURCHASE?

It must be a source of pleasure and satisfaction for women to know that they can find here in one place—under the rays of clear daylight—most of the favored weaves and colors in silks, dress goods and wash goods. It must be an additional satisfaction to know that it is impossible to select from these vast stocks a yard of unreliable goods, and lastly it must be good to know that because of our policy of moderate pricing, the utmost value is obtained. Among the choicest woolen weaves are gaberdine, poplin, whipcord, satin prunella, French serge and men's wear serge.

¶ The favored silks are Cascadeaux, Pussy willow taffeta, crinkle crepe, crepe meteor, printed warp foulards, charmeuse, messaline and poplin.
¶ Supplemental with an up-to-the-minute Ladies' Home Journal pattern, any of the above fabrics will make you an unexcelled costume.

PRISONERS CAN NOT BE TRANSFERRED

Attorney General Says if They Are Once Sent to Jail, They Must Serve Time There

MUST BE SENTENCED TO FARM

According to an opinion given to Charles E. Talkington, superintendent of the state penal farm which opened today in Putnam county, by Richard M. Milburn, attorney general of Indiana, the law does not authorize a judge to transfer a prisoner to the penal farm after the prisoner once has been sentenced to jail. This is contrary to the understanding of Judge Will M. Sparks, who had been given the impression that jail prisoners could be transferred. It was the plan, it is said, to transfer two or three prisoners who are now in the county jail for a long term.

The opinion says, however, that any prisoners sentenced to the penal farm before it opened today could be taken. There were some prisoners sentenced to the penal farm Saturday in Indianapolis by Judge Collins of the Marion county criminal court.

$225,000 IN TAXES STILL ON THE BOOKS

Spring Installment Will Have to be Paid at Rate of $13,000 a Day, if all Comes in.

LAST ONE TOTALLED $311,741.60

The final rush for paying the spring installment of taxes is on at the treasurer's office, but the rush is not big enough to suit County Treasurer Williams or Deputy Treasurer Frazee. With seventeen days remaining in which to pay the taxes, it will require about $13,000 a day to clean the amount yet due off the books. Mr. Frazee stated today that he did not see how all the money was going to get in unless the people got busy.

Last year the spring installment amounted to $311,741.60. It is estimated that there has been $100,000 collected thus far on the spring installment with about $225,000 still out. At this rate it will be necessary to collect $13,000 a day from now until the first Monday in May. With many waiting until the last minute, the officials do not see how all are going to pay their taxes. They urge people having complicated taxes to get in as early as possible, as these people hold back others, and there is no necessity for this.

benfruit from Texas has already begun.

The outlook for supplies of "nearby" eggs is also unusually bright—for those who eat eggs, for prices are believed due for a sharp drop. In fact, prices are already on the toboggan. The trouble with the storage situation, according to refrigeration houses, is that they are full of American and Argentine beef held to be shipped to Europe, and have not the usual room for spring egg storage.

One bright cloud on the egg horizon is that Argentine and other South American countries, which usually buy their eggs in Europe, are now buying their supplies in this market. This may help out the threatened egg oversupply. Canada is also said to be in the egg market here to an unusually large extent. The Canadian hens haven't gone on a strike, according to market reports, but the supply there has been curtailed by English buyers for the allies, and Canada is now turning to Uncle Sam's hen farms for her domestic supplies.

Some retailers here predict that eggs will hit the rock bottom price of 25 cents a dozen here this spring, after selling up to 55 and 65 during the last few months. The bountiful activities of Mrs. American Hen are already evident in cafes and restaurants, where egg menus are being featured—with profit both to the patrons and proprietors.

Now it's a rat "famine" in New York. While most folks are busy poisoning the rodents, there's one place that complains it hasn't enough. This is the George Crocker Cancer Research Laboratory of Columbia University. In its cancer cure experiments the laboratory uses from 3,000 to 4,000 rats and mice every month. What might be regarded as "fancy" prices for rodents "on the hoof" are paid, for the scientific experts insist that they be delivered alive.

Small boys are paid to catch the rodents and a regular market "price current" is in vogue.

Professor Francis Wood, director of the research funds and of the laboratory, says already much progress has been made in the cancer experiments with the rodents. Many elaborate experiments and observations have been carried on at the laboratory, which is backed by the Crocker fund of $1,500,000 and an additional $50,000 given by the late George C. Crocker prior to his death.
